To the Lighthouse is a 1927 novel by Virginia Woolf. The novel centres on the Ramsay family and their visits to the Isle of Skye in Scotland between 1910 and 1920. Following and extending the tradition of modernist novelists like Marcel Proust and James Joyce, the plot of To the Lighthouse is secondary to its philosophical introspection.

Jacqueline Rose's otherwise searching review of Hermione Lee's Virginia Woolf (LRB, 23 January) seems to take a rather upbeat view of the privileges of madness: Woolf herself apparently did not feel it had much to recommend it, or she would not have killed herself to prevent a recurrence. And it is wearisome to read yet another baiting of ...
